Alfa Laval wins SEK 50 million vegetable oil order

Alfa Laval – a world leader in heat transfer, centrifugal separation and fluid handling – has won an order to supply a process line for an edible oil plant in South East Asia. The order has a value of approximately SEK 50 million. It is booked in the Food Systems unit of the Food & Water Division during the third quarter, with deliveries scheduled for 2020.

The process line includes various pieces of equipment such as steam boilers, heat exchangers and pumps to refine the edible oil.

“It is always a pleasure to announce a large order, such as this one for our food systems,” says Nish Patel, President of the Food & Water Division. “Alfa Laval has a wide range of efficient products and systems for the food industry and they are all recognized for their safe, hygienic and reliable performance.”

Did you know that... according to “Oil World” statistics, South East Asia is producing approximately 30 percent of the world supply of edible oil?
