Alfa Laval wins SEK 210 million brewery order in Mexico

Alfa Laval – a world leader in heat transfer, centrifugal separation and fluid handling – has won an order to supply various pieces of equipment to a brewery plant in Mexico. The order, booked in the Food Technology & Life Science segment, has a value of approximately SEK 210 million and delivery is scheduled for 2016.

The order comprises various pieces of equipment for a complete brewery process line, including heat exchangers, valves, mixers and other types of fluid handling equipment. The process line will, among other things, handle propagation and fermentation of yeast and the maturation and filtration of beer.

"I am very pleased to announce this large order in Latin America," says Lars Renström, President and CEO of the Alfa Laval Group. "It confirms that the brewery industry sees us as a strong and reliable supplier."

Did you know that... Alfa Laval has been present in Mexico for more than 50 years or more specifically since 1957?
