Alfa Laval wins SEK 160 million natural gas order in the US

Alfa Laval – a world leader in heat transfer, centrifugal separation and fluid handling – has won an order to supply air cooler systems to a gas processing plant in the U.S. The order has a value of approximately SEK 160 million. It is booked in the Welded Heat Exchangers unit of the Energy Division, with delivery scheduled for 2021.

The order comprises Alfa Laval Niagara air cooler systems which will be used in several different steps of the gas treatment process, including process gas condensing and process liquid cooling.

“I am very pleased to announce this large order for our Niagara air cooler systems,” says Susanne Pahlén Åklundh, President of the Energy Division. “These air cooler systems are very energy efficient and they are thereby managing our energy resources in a sustainable way, which is good for both our customers operating costs and society.”

Did you know that... Alfa Laval is a market leading provider of heat exchangers which are required for heating, cooling, ventilation, evaporation and condensation – and 80 percent of all heat exchangers sold within the Energy division is related to energy efficiency, energy savings and reuse.
