Alfa Laval wins another offshore order, value SEK 65 million

Alfa Laval – a world leader in heat transfer, centrifugal separation and fluid handling – has won an order to supply Framo pumping systems to an FPSO in the North Sea. The order has a value of approximately SEK 65 million. It is booked in the Pumping Systems unit of the Marine Division, with deliveries scheduled for 2018.

The order comprises offshore pumping systems for injection of water into the production wells in order to optimize the extraction of oil.

“Our reliable and proven pumping systems meet the offshore industry’s high demands when it comes to safety and quality. This order, the second within a short period of time, is a confirmation of that,” says Peter Leifland, President of the Marine Division.

Did you know that... Framo has been the recognized leader in pumping systems for the marine industry for more than half a century and it became part of the Alfa Laval Group in 2014?
