Alfa Laval wins SEK 60 million vegetable oil order

Alfa Laval – a world leader in heat transfer, centrifugal separation and fluid handling – has won an order to supply various equipment to a vegetable oil processing plant in Uzbekistan. The order has a value of approximately SEK 60 million. It is booked in the Food Systems unit of the Food & Water Division, with deliveries scheduled for 2020.

The order comprises various equipment such as separators and plate heat exchangers, which will be used to process crude vegetable oil (such as sunflower oil) into fully refined and edible oil.

“I am pleased to announce this vegetable oil order,” says Nish Patel, President of the Food & Water Division. “Our broad product range for the food industry is recognized for its reliability and efficiency – and for securing safe and hygienic processes. This order confirms just that.”

Did you know that... sunflower oil contains more vitamin E than any other vegetable oil and as a plant-based product it is cholesterol-free?
